Creating an intricacy that was once the domain of Mother Nature, our design team and artisans have become adept at bringing sophisticated wall art to the home décor market. Many of our pieces, like the Medium Birch Leaf Wall Art, hang in relief to create depth and a highly refined shadow quality. This example of the waning season of fall has been hand-cut from metal sheets and dressed in a copper patina with a satin finish. Colossal in scale yet simple to mount, there are three sizes in this series, which makes them perfect for grouping. The warm metallic hues on and the textural character of these birch leaves reflect the ethos that Phillips Collection personifies: modern organic.
