Darwin 360-degree-swivel barstool with bamboo legs is a first-rate example of how classic forms evolve to become modern-day favorites. In the tradition of iconic Mid-Century Modern design, this open, airy chair's shell is made from bent wood; it's upholstered in a versatile and on-trend fabric called Stokes Gray; and it's supported by legs crafted from bamboo, a renewable material that resonates with shoppers who want to balance home fashion with their concern for the earth's natural resources. Bronze nailheads are placed by hand to enhance the chair's curves. Also available in Stokes Linen color upholstery.
