The faux live-edge and deep walnut finish of the furniture in our Aspen collection is a warm contrast to the sleek perfection of their steel bases. Crafted from solid acacia wood and reclaimed iron, each piece features heirloom-quality techniques to ensure durability for years to come. Combining organic silhouettes with modern details for a casual and transitional style, this hand-crafted faux live edge queen bed frame is made with acacia wood featuring uneven edges and butterfly joinery detailing on the headboard and footboard. The catalyzed water-based walnut finish on the wood creates an amazing luminosity that evokes beauty from every angle while also being durable for daily use. The headboard and footboard are each framed by square, U-shaped recycled iron tubing in antique zinc finish, creating a fusion of modern and contemporary elements. This queen bed frame requires assembly and is made with materials of the finest quality, making it the perfect place for resting your head at night.
