Natural, raw wood finishes fused with the mid-century modern design give the pieces of the San Marino collection their characteristically organic look. Casual enough for a waterfront cabin, yet modern enough for a city loft, the San Marino collection features genuine live edge furniture that is hand crafted from solid acacia wood. This king platform bed frame has a live edge headboard fashioned from acacia wood featuring uneven edges along the top. The water-based catalyzed raw walnut finish on the wood creates an amazing luminosity that evokes beauty from every angle while also being durable for daily use. The dark brown finish of the floor-to-mattress base provides a nice contrast to the raw look and feel of the headboard. This king bed frame fits a standard eastern mattress and requires assembly. Crafted with materials of the finest quality, it will make the perfect addition to any bedroom.
