Natural, raw wood finishes fused with the mid-century modern design give the pieces of the San Marino collection their characteristically organic look. Casual enough for a waterfront cabin, yet modern enough for a city loft, the San Marino collection features genuine live edge furniture that is hand crafted from solid acacia wood. This live edge dresser is made with acacia wood featuring uneven edges on the drawers. The water-based catalyzed raw walnut finish on the wood creates an amazing luminosity that evokes beauty from every angle while also being durable for daily use. With one open shelf area across the top and four drawers stacked below, this dresser provides plenty of room for housing all your favorite clothes. The dark brown finish of the border and base provides a nice contrast to the raw look and feel of the drawers. This pre-assembled dresser is made with materials of the finest quality, making it the perfect addition to any bedroom.
