Inspired by Spanish architecture, the Taj collection of furniture is crafted from sustainable mango wood featuring a natural whitewash finish. This collection showcases hand turned legs and remarkable floral and geometric pattern detailing hand-carved in the wood by our highly skilled artisans, creating a stunningly dramatic statement. This beautiful queen bed frame features a water-based, catalyzed, natural whitewash finish that enhances the carvings on the headboard and complements a variety of styles, while also offering durability for daily use. Made for an standard queen mattress, this bed frame will both enhance the look of your bedroom while also providing the perfect place to rest your head at night. The footboard rests on a pair of hand turned, heirloom quality mango wood legs, further emphasizing the attention to detail that this piece evokes. This queen bed frame requires assembly and is made with materials of the finest quality, making it an excellent addition to any style or bedroom decor. Due to the handcrafted nature of this item, variations will occur and are a feature of this unique collection.
