With radiating spokes that lead to a central knowing eye, the Spoke Square Mirror isn't made of wire, as one would expect: the playful organic shape is formed from thin wood sticks that have been charred black. Made from solid wood components, the decorative wall art pieces have a kinetic effect on the senses when fixated on. We also offer the Spoke in ovoid and round shapes, which make this the perfect trio for hanging in a gallery wall installation. Each of these reflects the ethos that Phillips Collection personifies: modern organic.
