This rectangular dining table has a durable white powder-coated finish that resists scratches, stains and burns. The table top is further enhanced with a decorative ash inlays at the sides and a solid ash frame for contemporary styling. The clean angled solid ash legs add an organic look while providing a sturdy base for the table. The 15 mm thick table top is constructed from tough, durable medium-density fiberboard treated using a heat-curing process that removes formaldehyde and bacteria and seals out outside toxins.
