The Rocio hanging lamp is like a dream of an ancient civilization more advanced than our own. Explosive energy is dangled in a cluster for a balanced design that will captivate any onlooker. Six opal glass shades cover round brass half spheres containing six separate light bulbs. The energy and light given off is a healthy glow, an output of warmth and comfort. The steel frame is finished in brass plating, arms extending from a central stem connected to ceiling canopy. A contemporary design for the adventurous, the exuberance of the Rocio will endear you with its magic.
